Description

The project is aimed at humanitarian aid for internal refugees in Iraqi Kurdistan. Within the project, health activities will be implemented in 2 locations: 1. Erbil - part of Ozal city through a stationary clinic that will provide care for the catchment group of 15,000 refugees 2. Dohuk and Niniwe governorate through a mobile health unit that will provide care for the downfall A group of 10,000 refugees. The implementation of the project will improve the health status of refugees in both localities. A total of 11,400 patients will be treated. In Erbil at the stationary clinic, 3,000 refugees will be treated within 12 months. In the Dohuku area of the mobile unit, 8,400 refugees will be treated within 12 months. The project will improve the quality of care provided. Quality will increase the use of ultrasound that is purchased in the mobile health unit. Ultrasound examinations will benefit particularly pregnant women. By improving access to health care, the need for refugee migration to Europe will be reduced.
