Description

The project incorporates themes and principles of global development education into educational programmes of two journalism departments (Comenius University in Bratislava and Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra). It does so by two development-oriented subjects, by creation of university scripts and almanac about these kind of issues, and by inclusion of so called global dimension into already existing subjects. The added value of this project is cooperation with Hospodárske noviny (large mainstream media house), at which webportal we will manage specialised news section dedicated to development news. Thanks to that we will also strongly contribute to public awareness on development.
