Description

The project aims to support a community of local residents to develop a region suffering from high HIV prevalence and also to receive large numbers of South Sudan refugees. The aim of the project is to be achieved through the provision of accommodation, the provision of nutritionally balanced nutrition and health and psychosocial care and the provision of 52 HIV positive orphans and semi-orphans in the Adjumani region. In addition, children in the center learn to follow the health and hygiene habits necessary for their disease.
