Description

The aim of the project is to define the possibilities of infrastructure development of the war-affected region and to improve connectivity between the controlled part of the UA and the temporarily occupied territories. Infrastructure development seems to be one of the basic preconditions for the successful reintegration of temporarily occupied territories. The project aims to create a single concept of infrastructure reconstruction in Donbas, which in the medium term can provide opportunities for Slovak businesses interested in the "Great Construction" program and positively affect employment in the war-torn region.
